Last week, our teacher told us to research information about airports. He advised us to use the Egyptian Knowledge Bank to find out information. In the next lesson, Omar told us about Marsa Alam International Airport. He told us that it might have been difficult for tourists to get to the Red Sea before the airport was built. Today, the airport is open for 24 hours a day and every hour 1, 200 passengers can travel through it. Then Haytham told us about Osaka Airport in Japan. Because it was next to many buildings, the old Osaka Airport could not grow. In the 1980s, Japan encouraged architects to plan a new airport at sea. Building a new island for the airport must have been very difficult. When it opened in 1994, the airport was the most expensive building project ever!

The teacher then asked me to talk about Barra Airport. This airport is on a small island in the north of Britain, where planes land on a beach. I told the class that tourists often walked on the beach, so people warn them to be careful when planes are going to land! Next week, the students in our class are giving a talk about railway stations. I think that this will be interesting!
